General Information

Conference Venue

The SHE-XXI meeting will take place in the heart of Orange County near many of Southern California's most popular attractions such as the Segerstrom Center for the Arts, Santa Ana Zoo and Knott's Berry Farm. Other nearby attractions include Newport Beach, Disneyland and South Coast Plaza — with world-renowned shopping and exquisite dining options.

Accommodations:

The SHE-XXI meeting is using the conference facilities of Holiday Inn Santa Ana. The Holiday Inn is also the recommended venue for conference attendees — providing free guest parking, wireless internet, and complimentary shuttle service to nearby Orange County – John Wayne (SNA) airport, as well as the South Coast Plaza.

Reservations may be made via phone or online at <http://www.holidayinn.com/hotels/us/en/santa-ana/jwaca/hoteldetail?groupCode=ECO> Please note that any reservations outside the group dates (April 11 – 16, 2016) may not be made online. If you would like to inquire about additional dates, please contact Edward Mendoza at 714-481-6305.

Reservations may also be made by calling 855-846-7312. Please ask for the “The Society for Human Ecology” Reservationists should be able to view your group information with just the name of your group, but you may also reference block code: ECO Note that your reservation must be made no later than March 18, 2016.

Of course, attendees may also choose to stay at other nearby hotels, which can be found via Hotels.com, Kayak, Travelocity or similar on-line sites.

Travel:

The closest major airport is Orange County-John Wayne (SNA), two miles from the conference facilities. The Holiday Inn Orange County Airport offers a complimentary shuttle service to and from John Wayne International Airport. To request service, please call the hotel at 714-481-6300 after retrieving your luggage and going to the “Ground Transportation/Courtesy Shuttle” pickup area outside the terminal.

Air travelers may also use Los Angeles International Airport (LAX), 40 miles away, where they can find rental cars, super shuttle, or other ground transportation options. There is a train link from Los Angeles Union Station to Santa Ana, but you will still need to cab or be prepared to walk 3.5 miles. There is no connecting flights from LAX to Orange County airport

Driving:

From the 405 Freeway to the 55 Freeway North exit at Dyer Road. Make a left onto Dyer Road and a right at the next light, which is Grand Avenue. The hotel will be on your left hand side about a half of a block down.

From the 5 Freeway to the 55 Freeway South exit Dyer West and turn left in Grand. The hotel is located on your right hand side one block South.

From The Orange County Airport exit directly onto the 55 North and exit at Dyer. Make a left onto Dyer Road and a right at the next light, which is Grand Avenue. The hotel will be on your left hand side about a half of a block down.

Catering:

The welcome reception with complimentary drinks and nibbles will be held in the Grand Ballroom at 5.30 on Tuesday 12th. Your registration includes morning and afternoon teas and drinks vouchers for the conference banquet. The conference banquet, held on Thursday from 7.30, is also included in your registration. You should have noted meat or non-meat option when you registered, and your conference pack should include an appropriate token representing this. Please enquire about guest entrance to any function. Lunches are not included in your registration, but there are a number of food outlets within a short walking distance. Also, the hotel restaurant will be making a range of lunch options available, including vegetarian and non-vegetarian options. There will be a cash bar open on Wednesday and Thursday from 6.00.

Registration:

The registration and enquires desk will be found near the Grand Ballroom. It will be open from noon on Tuesday 12 April and then during the conference hours.

The Society for Human Ecology

Be an active member of the society! We are interested in your ideas for raising the profile and relevance of human ecology. Volunteer to be an occasional reviewer for HER. Like us on Facebook and follow us on Twitter @humanecology. Let us know your ideas at info@societyforhumanecology.org

Human Ecology Review

Human Ecology Review (HER) – is an open access online journal published by ANU Press at <http://press.anu.edu.au/titles/human-ecology-review/>. Formatted preprints are published online first on the society's webpage at <http://societyforhumanecology.org/> The Journal publishes peer-reviewed research and theory on the interaction between humans and the environment and other links between culture and nature. Presenters are encouraged to submit manuscript versions of their papers for consideration for publication in HER. Session organizers may wish to discuss the possibility of dedicated special issues arising from their session. See details on the society's webpage.

Human Ecology Section of the Ecological Society of America (ESA)

The Society for Human Ecology was instrumental in helping to create a Human Ecology Section within the Ecological Society of America (ESA). If you are a member of ESA, please consider making Human Ecology one of your section memberships.

This year's symposium organized by the Human Ecology Section is Human Ecology, Human Economy: Towards Good Governance of the Anthropocene. Speakers are Katherine Richardson, Copenhagen University; Robert Costanza, Australian National University; Molly Anderson, Middlebury College; Gillian Bowser, Colorado State University; Larry Li, University of California at Riverside, Steward Pickett, Cary Institute of Ecosystem Studies; and Geoffrey Buckley, Ohio

University. Join us in Florida in August and help build this section <http://esa.org/>

Thanks!

Keynote Speakers

Christopher Chase-Dunn Christopher Chase-Dunn is Distinguished Professor of Sociology and Director of the Institute for Research on World-Systems at the University of California-Riverside. He received his Ph.D in Sociology from Stanford University in 1975. Chase-Dunn has done cross-national quantitative studies of the effects of dependence on foreign investment, and he studies cities and settlement systems in order to explain human sociocultural evolution. His recent research focuses on the causes of empire expansion and urban growth (and decline) in the Afroeurasian world-system over the last 5000 years. His research on structural globalization and global state formation has been supported by the National Science Foundation. Chase-Dunn is the founder and former editor of the Journal of World-Systems Research and the Series Editor of a book series published by The Johns Hopkins University Press. In 2001 he was elected a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 2002 he was elected President of the Research Committee on Economy and Society (RC02) of the International Sociological Association. In 2008 he was elected Distinguished Senior Scholar of the International Political Economy (IPE) section of the International Studies Association. In 2014 he received the Distinguished Career Award from the Section on the Political Economy of the World-System of the American Sociological Association

A.G. Kawamura is third generation fruit and vegetable grower and shipper from Orange County. He is the former Secretary of the California Department of Food and Agriculture (2003-2010). He is co-chair of Solutions From the Land, a non-profit organization that collaborates with farmers, ranchers, foresters and stakeholders to implement climate smart land management practices and strategies. He currently serves on several boards and committees including: The Ag Advisory Committee for the AGree Initiative; the Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources (BANR), a policy arm of the National Academy of Sciences' Natural Resource Council; Ag Advisory Committee for the Chicago Council on Global Affairs; American Farmland Trust; The 25x'25 Alliance, a national alliance of renewable energy stakeholders; External Advisory Board for the Agricultural Sustainability Institute (ASI) at U.C. Davis. He is a former chair and current board member of Western Growers Association. As a progressive urban farmer, AG has a lifetime of experience working within the shrinking rural and urban boundaries of Southern Calif. Through his company, Orange County Produce, LLC, he is engaged in building an exciting, interactive 21st century 100 acre urban agricultural showcase at the Orange County Great Park in Irvine, CA.

Hunter Lovins is the President and Founder of Natural Capitalism Solutions (NCS), a non-profit formed in 2002 in Longmont, CO. A renowned author and champion of sustainable development for over 35 years, Hunter has consulted on sustainable agriculture, energy, water, security, and climate policies for scores of governments, communities, and companies worldwide. Within the United States, she has consulted for the Presidential Cabinet, Department of Defense, EPA, Department of Energy and numerous state and local agencies.

Hunter believes that citizens, communities and companies, working together within the market context, are the most dynamic problem-solving force on the planet. She has devoted herself to building teams that can create and implement practical and affordable solutions to the problems facing us in creating a sustainable future.

Hunter has co-authored fifteen books and hundreds of articles, and was featured in the award-winning film, Lovins On the Soft Path. Her best-known book, Natural Capitalism, has been translated into a more than three dozen languages and summarized in Harvard Business Review. Its sequel, Climate Capitalism, won the Atlas Award. Her latest, Creating a Lean and Green Business System won the Shingo Prize. Hunter has taught at numerous universities around the world, was a founding professor of Sustainable Management at Presidio Graduate School.

Currently she is a professor of Sustainable Management at Bard MBA. Named a Master at the Chinese De Tao Academy, Hunter helped launch the Institute for Green Investment in Shanghai, and she is a Fellow of the Fowler Center at Case Western University.

Lovins has consulted for scores of industries and governments worldwide, including International Finance Corporation, Unilever, Walmart, the United Nations and Royal Dutch Shell, as well as such sustainability champions as Interface, Patagonia and Clif Bar. She has briefed heads of state, leaders of the numerous local governments, the Pentagon, Congress and officials in more than 30 other countries.

Hunter lectures regularly to audiences around the globe. She has worked in economic development from Afghanistan to New Zealand, and served the King of Bhutan on his International Expert Working Group, charged with reinventing the global economy. She sits on the Executive Committee of the Club of Rome, the steering committee of the Alliance for Sustainability And Prosperity, and Capital Institute's Advisory Board. A founding mentor of the Unreasonable Institute, Hunter teaches entrepreneurship and coaches social enterprises around the world. She is also a founding partner in Principium, an impact-investing firm. Hunter has won dozens of awards from the Right Livelihood Award (Alternative Nobel), Leadership in Business, The Rachel Carson Award, and the European Sustainability Pioneer award. Time Magazine recognized her as a Millennium Hero for the Planet, and Newsweek called her the Green Business Icon.

Mike McGinnis works at the interface between science and policymaking. He has fifteen years of professional and academic experience in the area of large-scale environmental policymaking and planning in diverse cultural and socio-economic settings. He has published over 100 journal articles, essays, books, reports and documents on large-scale ecosystem-based planning and biodiversity conservation, with a focus on oceans, rivers, creeks, and islands. His edited compendium Bioregionalism (Routledge, 1999) is the primary text in the field. He has also contributed to federal and state policymaking and planning activities for marine sanctuary management plans and watershed-based plans across coastal California. From 1993-2000 his NSF-funded research focused on the role of worldviews, values, beliefs and science in the development of ecosystem-based planning. From 1999-

2008 he was an advisor to federal agencies in the development of marine ecosystem-based planning in California. During this time, he assisted the National Marine Sanctuary (NMS) Program in all of the planning aspects associated with the designation of marine reserves within the Channel Islands NMS. In 2008 he was a Fulbright Scholar in southeastern Europe, and conducted a comparative study of marine governance supported by the European Union. In April 2012, he completed a two-year study on New Zealand's marine governance framework funded by the ministries of that country. McGinnis is currently completing two books on the subject of the role of ecology and politics in large-scale ecosystem-based planning and decision-making. Science and Sensibility: Negotiating an Ecology of Place (University of California Press, 2016) is now out.

Lori Peek is Associate Professor of Sociology and Co-Director of the Center for Disaster and Risk Analysis at Colorado State University. She studies marginalized populations in disaster and has conducted post-event field investigations across the United States and internationally. She is the author of Behind the Backlash: Muslim Americans after 9/11, co-editor of Displaced: Life in the Katrina Diaspora, and co-author of Children of Katrina. Behind the Backlash received the 2012 Distinguished Book Award from the Midwest Sociological Society and the 2013 Best Book Award from the American Sociological Association Section on Altruism, Morality, and Social Solidarity. In addition to her scholarship, Dr. Peek has received numerous awards for her teaching and mentorship as well as for her service to the discipline.

During her keynote address she will discuss her work on children in disaster contexts. Dr. Peek and her colleague and co-author, Dr. Alice Fothergill of the University of Vermont, spent nearly a decade after Hurricane Katrina studying a group of children who were affected by that terrible disaster. In this lecture, Dr. Peek will share what they learned about children and youth, from their own perspectives. She will also discuss various initiatives that she has co-created to engage youth in their own post-disaster recovery.

Paul Steinberg is Professor of Political Science and Environmental Policy at Harvey Mudd College, where he directs The Social Rules Project. He is the author of three books: Who Rules the Earth? (Oxford University Press), Comparative Environmental Politics (MIT Press) and Environmental Leadership in Developing Countries (MIT Press), which won the International Studies Association's Harold and Margaret Sprout Award for the best book in international environmental affairs. He has held academic posts at the Nicholas School of the Environment at Duke University and at the School of Advanced International Studies at Johns Hopkins. He has also worked in applied positions with the Natural Resources Defense Council, Conservation International, The World Bank, RARE, Pesticide Action Network, and the US Peace Corps. He serves on the editorial board for the journal Global Environmental Politics.

10.30-12.30	Organized Session (OS7)	Strengthening American Food System Resilience: Connecting human ecology with the farming community This is a panel discussion session concerning the security of our food supply and what can be done to strengthen food system capacity to withstand shocks and stresses that could lead to disruption or shortfalls in the supply (e.g., natural disasters, climate change, water shortage, declining agricultural land, social conflict). The recently published Symposium on American Food System Resilience (free download of all 27 articles at www.foodresilience.org) provides a point of departure for the panel. Article authors will present suggestions for strengthening food system resilience. Panelists from the California farming community will critique the ideas and provide their own suggestions. There will be scope for interactive discussion with the audience on the question of ‘where do we go from here’?	Gerry Marten, EcoTipping Points Project, organizer	Grand Ballroom
